

150 WOMEN ATTEND THE BUDGET SHOW AND TALK POLITICS

Municipal Research Bureau Explains How to Fight the "Machine Game."

One hundred and fifty women, members of the Women's Municipal League, gathered at the Budget Exhibit, today and listened to members of Bureau of Municipal Research tell how had the politicians are and how good they themselves are.

William H. Allen advised them to form a "fighting wedge," perfect their "team work," swoop down upon the Board of Estimate next week, have a "show down" and then "kick machine politics to a frazzle." All of which they seemed to grasp.

Mrs. Frederick Nathan, President of the Consumers League, remarked that in every effort she had made to gather funds with which to support movements looking to better city government she had run "square against machine politics" and had been defeated in her plans.

Mr. Allen said the best possible weapon against "machine politics" was to support the movement for municipal reform and the even more important one of the standardization of all supplies purchased by the city.

"This," he explained, "means that standard specifications will be prepared for every article purchased by the city. Each article must come up to these specifications or be thrown out. In this way the bureau has saved the city nearly $1,000,000 in the last year, at an expense of $10,000. Our fight this year is for a continuation of the bureau and an expansion of its work, to cost $60,000. The Board of Estimate must decide the question next week. As there has been much opposition by 'machine politics' it behooves the women to get busy and be quick about it."

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND BREAD IS BEST IN CITY.

The women in looking at the exhibits found bread made at Blackwell's Island, in a secret test with commercial breads, had been declared the best in New York.

The scales in the division of child hygiene interested them immensely. "Why William would have more than filled that little pan when he was born," remarked one little woman. An attendant said she referred to Commissioner Edwards of the Street Department.

They were told the city was able to take care of four hundred babies at an expense of $413. They also learned that more than 95 per cent of the children of New York had defective teeth.

The high pressure water exhibit came in for its share of attention. "That would just about reach my window," remarked one member of the league. "I live pretty high up and am glad to know there is something that can throw water into my window in case of fire."

Among the women on hand to-day were: Mrs. Thomas R. French, Mrs. John H. Huddleston, Mrs. Shinn (Ann O'Hagan), Mrs. Edward R. Hewitt, Mrs. Frederick R. Platt, Mrs. Nelson Henry, Mrs. John C. Tappan, Mrs. Gilbert E. Jones and Mrs. Barclay Hamard.

ROCHESTER DEMOCRATS SHY ON CANDIDATES.

All but One of the Nominees on City and County Tickets Refuse to Run.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 18.—A situation which has probably seldom been duplicated confronts the Democrats of Monroe County to-day. The county and city conventions named candidates for all offices to be filled at the coming election and to-day only one name remains on the county ticket and every candidate has withdrawn from the city ticket. The matter is at present in the hands of a committee to fill vacancies, but the committee seems to be irresolute to locate a candidate who will accept and who can unite the Democratic factions.

Even one of the candidates for the Legislature has withdrawn and present indications are that the Republican ticket will be chosen from top to bottom without opposition.

MYSTERY VEILS WOMAN VICTIM OF STRANGLER.

Police Believe She Was Murdered by Robber, Who Carried Body to Secluded Spot.

CLAYTONVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 18.—No identification has yet been made of the woman found lying with her head in a small stream on the outskirts of the city yesterday, who according to the autopsy, was the victim of a strangler. The police are at their wits' end to solve the mystery.

Hundreds have viewed the body, but none can identify the one who was well dressed and had every indication of refinement.

The police theory is that the woman was murdered, robbed and brought to the spot where she was found.

WHY NOT GIVE THE NAMES?

Why, in New York City I am simply trying to give honest and intelligent government through all of the departments. There are difficulties. The chief one is the constant effort of two or three thoroughly corrupt newspaper proprietors to deceive the public mind and prevent good government. They are thoroughly corrupt libelers.—From Mayor Gaynor's Speech to the Business Men of Richmond, Va.

FIFTH AVE. CROWD SEES FIGHT WITH THIEVES ON CAR

Detectives Nab Prisoners After Bridegroom Is Robbed of Honeymoon Money.

A westbound Thirty-fourth street car was crossing Fifth avenue during the morning rush hour to-day when three men who had boarded the car at Third avenue suddenly leaped upon three other men and started a fight. The three who inaugurated the attack were husky and business-like in their methods and soon subdued the others.

"Don't get excited!" shouted one of the attacking party to the passengers who were crowding for the doors. "We're detectives and these men are thieves."

Just then a wiry little man who had been edging his way to the rear platform leaped from the car, landed sprawling in the mud and water, picked himself up and disappeared. He was the fourth member of the pickpocket band.

Alvin G. Andrews of Altoona, Pa., who was on the car with his bride of a few days announced that his pocket had been rifled of his railroad tickets and $10. The detectives, McKenna, Cassara and Wilber, promptly dragged their prisoners

A Well Known Society Woman Praises Munyon's Remedies.

I can't say too much in praise of the Munyon Remedies. I have used them in my family for years with great success.

I consider Munyon's Cold Cure a great blessing; it breaks up a cold so quickly that we have no fear of pneumonia.

His Dyspepsia Remedy we always keep in the house, for it corrects all forms of stomach troubles, such as belching of wind, sour stomach and distress after eating.

Scores of people are calling daily at the James Drug Store, 46th St. and Broadway, to tell how they have been cured of ailments that have baffled the skill of our best Physicians.

His Rheumatism Remedy is almost infallible. It corrects sharp, shooting pains in a few hours and soon reduces swollen and stiff joints and drives all rheumatic pain from the system.—Adv't.

INCENDIARY BLAZE ROUTS 16 FAMILIES.

A firebug's work caused a small panic among the sixteen families in the five-story tenement, No. 71 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, at 3 o'clock this morning.

Policeman Monahan of the East One Hundred and Fourth street station saw smoke coming from a third-story window and, after sending in an alarm, helped in putting out the blaze, which was small and did little damage. The firemen discovered that the walls of the third floor hallway were saturated with oil, and the police and Fire Marshal are investigating.

Tomorrow's Jubilee Offerings

Women's Imported Tweed Coats
At $25. Worth $35 to $60

Just three weeks ago a noted foreign manufacturer cabled us that we might have all of his handsome tweed coats remaining on hand at a price that would scarcely pay for the material alone.

We cabled back our acceptance, wondering at the offer, because both in this country and abroad the supply of tweeds has practically run out.

The explanation came a week later in a letter which read:

"Positively no more tweeds to be had. Therefore I let you have my models as I have no further use for them."

The manufacturer hands his stock over to us instead of selling them in Europe because his largest trade is in London and he does not wish to break the market there.

The colors are not limited to browns or grays, although we have never seen prettier shades of browns and grays than are here represented. There are greens, blues, violets and even purples.

The Coats have just arrived on the S. S. George Washington.

They are made after the latest Paris models, and made only as the best tailors of the world make them; and the most wonderful part about them is that it would be quite impossible to obtain any more of these handsome coats, even at their regular prices of $35 to $60.

Second floor, Old Building.

Women's Dresses at $7.50

There Are 500 of Them in a Dozen Models

Graded Conservatively. They Are Worth $12 to $20

We will let you into a secret. These dresses come from the man who supplied us with the silk frocks of which we sold almost two thousand in a day and more than five thousand in all, last August.

This transaction was a great boon to his business, attracting the general attention of the trade, as it did. He wanted to repeat the experience, and, naturally, we were more than willing that he should contribute one more to the rare string of once-in-fifty-years' events that have made this month a milestone in the history of the store.

The majority of the dresses are of black satin or blue messaline, relieved with collars or yokes of lace, and of blue or black serge, trimmed with satin. A smaller group are of silk colienne in black and cadet blue, a few brown. Many of the models show the one-sided lapel that characterizes so many imported dresses. Sleeves are all of the set-in pattern that gives the kimono sleeve effect without its disadvantages.

But the picture tells more than a column of description. These dresses are in the styles of the moment—they are well-made—and they are to go at close to half price and less, in some cases. All sizes from 32 to 44, to start, tomorrow morning. $7.50. Subway floor, Old Building.

Men's $6 and $7 Shoes at $3.50

In the group are shoes of tan and black calfskin, patent leather and kidskin, in all the usual sizes. They could not be better or more desirable in style if they had been made to our special order to bear the Wanamaker name. $3.50 tomorrow. Main floor, New Building.

This Specialized Player-Piano Store

is in charge of enthusiasts. Were a high degree of expert knowledge required in the demonstration of these men would qualify as experts.

Angelus-Endowed Pianos

But the fact is the operation of the ANGELUS in conjunction with a very good piano is not, strictly speaking, a matter of expertness. It is more a matter of heart, of music-love, of enthusiasm.

Given the phrasing lever, the Melodant and other related handmaidens of melody attending upon those who play the ANGELUS, the greater part of the quality of expertness is supplied by the mechanism itself.

Player-pianos there are which require expert attendance if the soul of music is to be brought from them. As with finger-playing, there must be the human master if the mechanism is to perform properly its functions.

But with our pianos from which the ANGELUS breathes as a thing of life, in which the noblest impulses of inspired composers are made manifest, the man or woman or bright-eyed maiden at the phrasing lever needs only heart, music-love. Enthusiasm will come swiftly and will abide.

We derive genuine pleasure from the demonstration of our pianos of which the ANGELUS is a part—the KNABE-ANGELUS, the SCHOMACKER-ANGELUS, the EMERSON-ANGELUS, the LINDERMAN-ANGELUS—for the instruments themselves supply the greater part of the expertness, and invariably we find in our friends, who call, the other needed qualities of heart, music-love, enthusiasm.

A delightful hour or two may be passed by anyone even remotely interested in player-pianos if a visit is made to our specialized salons. Each type of player-instrument has its own little salon, where, removed from interruption of all sorts, one may hear it—or play it to the heart's content.

Terms may be arranged so advantageous to the purchaser that an Angelus-piano, while a constant home-joy, need never become a burden.
